

Fashion Designer • Author • Humanitarian

Nigerian Visionary Ada Kate Uchegbu Rises as a Global Voice in Fashion, Literature, and Social Advocacy

June 21, 2025 – Global News Feature

From the heart of Nigeria to the world stage, Ada Kate Uchegbu is a name rising fast across multiple spheres: fashion design, literary creativity, and global advocacy. An accomplished fashion entrepreneur, author, and human rights advocate, Ada's journey is a compelling tale of resilience, vision, and transformation.

ADA International Limited: A Fashion Powerhouse

Ada is the Founder and Creative Director of ADA International Limited, a couture fashion company known for its elegant, Afrocentric designs. She recently launched a 30-page couture sewing and design guide, empowering new generations of African designers through knowledge and style.

Author of "MESSIAH"

Her supernatural-religious thriller MESSIAH reimagines biblical mysteries, ancient bloodlines, and cosmic warfare. It tells the story of a lecturer drawn into a global web of conspiracy and divine knowledge. The novel has been praised as "Dan Brown meets African mythology."

Advocate for Peace and Justice

Ada is a strong voice against atrocities such as the Fulani jihadist killings in Benue State. Her narratives blend fiction with activism, calling attention to urgent humanitarian issues across Africa.

Background and Skills

With experience working with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) and certifications in CPR/First Aid and security, Ada brings compassion, reliability, and global thinking to every project.

Conclusion

From tailoring needles to literary ink, Ada Kate Uchegbu is bold, creative, and unshakably committed to change. She's not just writing books or designing clothes—she's shaping narratives and building legacies.